Lecture on Biomedical Waste Management.

Lecture Taken by : Dr.Kalpana Date (Professor,Dept.of Microbiology)

Date: 9th May 2025

Venue: Insert Venue, e.g. Seminar Room, LMH Blood Centre

Time: 1.30 pm

A lecture on Biomedical Waste Management was organized by the LMH Blood Centre on 8th May 2025 for its staff members. The session was conducted to enhance awareness and compliance regarding the safe handling, segregation, and disposal of biomedical waste in accordance with current guidelines.

The guest speaker for the session was Dr. Kalpana Date, Professor, Department of Microbiology, NKP Salve Institute of Medical Sciences & Research Centre and Lata Mangeshkar Hospital, Digdoh. Dr. Date delivered an insightful lecture covering the classification of biomedical waste, color coding of containers, treatment and disposal methods, risks associated with improper waste handling, and the legal and environmental implications of non-compliance.

The session was introduced by Dr. Anne Wilkinson, Professor, Department of Pathology, who welcomed Dr. Date and emphasized the relevance of biomedical waste management in maintaining infection control standards in healthcare settings.

A total of 13 staff members from the LMH Blood Centre attended the session. The lecture was interactive and informative, followed by a Q&A session where staff clarified their doubts regarding daily practices and documentation requirements.
